

EXTRUSION COOLING ACCUMULATOR

The Composite Board Cooling Accumulator provides additional cooling for extruded boards without any man-power requirement and allows the automatic interface between the extrusion process and the embossing/stacking process.

The unique product carrier design provides excellent cooling air circulation around the entire board during the transport between the infeed and the discharge stations.

